The Rigos review-learn-practice assessment-outline method optimizes your bar exam study time and learning efficiency. Online lectures are given in 20-minute sections of text coverage. Students then work related learning questions and complete their own Magic Memory Outlines. Lectures may also be downloaded to your iPod.

If you are not top of your law school class or must work during the preparation period you can still pass. Slower flyers must simply start their prep early to get to the destination timely. The “Early-Bird” gets the worm here.

Recent Student Comments

I had two study partners who both used company “B” and their material was so massive and overwhelming that their heads were spinning. I was the only one of the three of us that passed the July bar exam. I felt so comfortable and prepared during the exam that it was almost easy. Program organization was excellent. Nicholas Alexander

Starting my preparation period early made it very doable for me. The boilerplate rule issue statements and acronyms helped a lot. The Rigos mentor’s advice and quick turnaround by graders improved my writing skills to match the bar examiners’ requirements. Charles Gust

The Rigos method is efficient and focused on the UBE information that matters. The feature I found most helpful was the organized practice question maps cross-referenced to each subject, right after the substantive outlines which helped me to apply the rules. Sarah Taylor

Passed the February 2016 exam. While I liked it all – concise exam-focused text and 1,600 cross-referenced practice questions – the Primer Series Magic Memory Outlines and acronym-mnemonics were most helpful and for me that made the difference. Paul Dowaschinski
